*To become CFP certified, an individual is required to meet the following four initial certification requirements:

Education

To take the CFP Certification Examination, an individual must be knowledgeable in all of areas covered by the financial planning, as established by the CFP Board. There are three ways to complete the educational requirement: CFP Board-Registered Programs, Challenge Status or Transcript Review. Candidates for certification must have a bachelor's degree (or higher), or its equivalent, in any discipline, from an accredited college or university.

Examination

Individuals are eligible for the CFP Certification Examination upon satisfying the educational requirements. The CFP Certification Examination assesses the individual's ability to apply financial planning knowledge in an integrated format to financial planning situations.

Experience

CFP Board requires an individual to have three years of full-time relevant personal financial planning experience.

Ethics

CFP certification also requires each individual to adhere to CFP Board's Code of Ethics and Professional Responsibility, Rules of Conduct and Financial Planning Practice Standards, and acknowledge CFP Board's right to enforce them through its Disciplinary Rules and Procedures.

Remaining CFP Certified

Certification Renewal

Individuals must complete 30 hours continuing education every two years, including 28 hours devoted to accepted financial planning topics and two hours from a pre-approved program of CFP Board's Standards of Professional Conduct.

*CRPC is a professional designation awarded by the College for Financial Planning to individuals who complete a year study program and pass a final multiple-choice examination.

The program to become a CRPC covers the entire retirement planning process, including meeting multiple financial objectives, sources of retirement income, personal savings, employer-sponsored retirement plans, income taxes, retirement cash flow, asset management, estate planning and more.

Every two years, CRPC professionals must complete 16 hours of continuing education and pay a small fee.
